

CFC Foundation Grants

Supports charities, non-profit organisations, and social enterprises that work within four primary focus areas: education, disadvantaged youth, medical research and health support services, and art and culture.

The Foundation is responsive to requests that contribute to increasing access to opportunities and is dedicated to supporting charities, non-profit organisations, and social enterprises that work within the four primary focus areas:

1. Education

- The Foundation strives to provide much-needed funds to offer powerful learning opportunities that aim to reduce the opportunity gap for those who are most disadvantaged by it
- It will allow these organisations to continue working on researching and implementing best practice pedagogies and providing financial, educational, and emotional assistance to enable students to perform at their best and decrease the gap in learning due to social and economic disadvantages.

2. Medical Research & Health

- There are several foundations and charities in the not-for-profit sector which provide assistance towards medical research and health services in Australia. Many of them have a specific focus such as cancer, diabetes and arthritis. Others are heavily focused on medical research, providing information and raising awareness on specific health conditions. Some charities also fund support for specific patients undergoing treatment
- The Foundation will work with these institutions and support their cause by extending grants and assistance for specific schemes and programs.

3. Disadvantage Youth

- Knowledge, education and physical wellbeing are all factors impacting the full and effective participation of youth in social, economic and political development. Increased attention to improving participation rates of young people, particularly marginalised youth, is needed to ensure that they acquire the knowledge, capacities, skills and ethical values needed to fulfil their role as agents of development, good governance, social inclusion, tolerance and peace
- The Foundation will work with organisations who support disadvantaged youths in attaining general and technical skills, physical fitness, and assist them in their personal development to contribute to their local communities.

4. Arts & Culture

- Art and culture have a huge impact on society and bring diverse communities together. Throughout human existence, art has been an imperative tool in measuring cultural development and recording history. It is one of the most dynamic methods and norms that can make human behaviour change. It can increase empathy, trigger reflection, increase dialogue and help generate new ideas and relationships that can enhance expression of ideas and positive values. Arts help humanity build new possibilities and rehearse a different way of living and connecting

- The Foundation will seek to support charities which encourage participation, education and appreciation of numerous artistic and cultural disciplines including painting, sculpture, writing, photography, puppetry, film, theatre, opera, dance, and music.
